

AND VII. DEAD; GEORGE V. RULES

Universally Lamented Monarch Succumbs to Pneumonia.

WHOLE NATION IN MOURNING

Monarch's Death Occurred Before Subject Had Realized That He Was Seriously Ill—Sketch of His Long and Brilliant Career.

Edward VII., king of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of all the British Dominions beyond the seas, emperor of India, as his full royal title reads, was born in Buckingham palace, London, on November 9, 1841, and was the second child and first son of Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort Albert. He was christened Albert Edward, and at his very birth was given an imposing list of titles. He was at once created prince of Wales and by virtue of that dignity he became also knight of the garter. As heir apparent to the British throne he succeeded to the title of duke of Cornwall and its emoluments, and as heir to the crown of Scotland he became great steward of Scotland, duke of Rothesay, warden of the Marches, and lord of the isles. On September 10, 1863, he was created earl of Dalhousie, this title being conferred on him and his heirs in perpetuity. Among the other titles and commands held by Edward were duke of Saxe-Coburg, colonel of the Tenth Hussars, colonel-in-chief of the Rifle brigade, field marshal of the British army and field marshal of the German army.

THE LATE KING EDWARD VII.

her popularity in Great Britain that has continued unaltered throughout her life as princess and queen. In 1876-78 the prince made an extended tour through the Indian empire and was received everywhere with lavish and magnificent hospitality.

On the death of Queen Victoria, January 22, 1901, Edward succeeded to the throne. The coronation was set for June 26, 1902, and all preparations for the magnificent event had been completed when disquieting rumors of the king's ill health, which had been current for several days, were confirmed by the postponement of the ceremony. It was announced that the king was suffering from peripneumonia, and on June 24 he underwent an operation. After some weeks of the greatest anxiety he recovered, and the coronation took place August 9.

During the long years of his principality Edward's public duties consisted solely in the office of representing the royal family at all manner of public events, and he performed these duties well. But the deadly monotony of such a life was too much for the vigorous man, and he found relaxation in amusements that frequently gave rise to scandal and that gave the world a wrong impression of his real character. He was especially fond of the theater and among his close companions for years were actresses and actors. Also he developed a great liking for Paris and often visited that city, where he was especially fond of the theater and among his close companions for years were actresses and actors. Also he developed a great liking for Paris and often visited that city, where he was especially fond of the theater and among his close companions for years were actresses and actors.

As a diplomat Edward was interested among the monarchs of Europe. His influence was always thrown in the scale of international peace where compatible with national honor, and his advice and example had a steady effect on all Europe. He looked with amused tolerance on the vagaries and extravagances of his subjects, the emperor of Germany, but occasionally that ruler expressed him in a mild fight for the open country.

Many of them were crushed to death or mortally injured by falling walls, as they stumbled through narrow streets which were writing under the pressure of the mighty subterranean forces.

Everywhere in the darkness and stilling that the white figures could be seen flying for safety, while a steady, deafening, terrifying roar filled the air and added to the horror of the occasion. Many of the ruins caught fire and scores of the dead and injured were cremated in them.

1,000 LIVES LOST

EARTHQUAKE AT CARTAGO PAR EXCEEDED THE FIRST REPORTS.

LOSS RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Secretly a Building Remains Standing in City—Hundreds Are Killed and Injured in Collapsed Structures—Wires Still Down.

Moangua, Nicaragua.—Reports received from Costa Rica state that the earthquake disaster is worse than at first reported.

The loss of life, at first estimated at 500, was Friday placed, according to the latest news from the ruined city, at not less than 1,000, and it may largely exceed that figure. Hundreds were seriously injured in the collapse of buildings.

The property loss will amount to many millions of dollars. Wires at Cartago are all down and details of the catastrophe are coming in slowly.

The earthquake, which occurred Wednesday night, consisted of a terrific series of seismic shocks which raised practically every dwelling and nearly all the larger buildings in the ancient capital of Costa Rica.

The shocks were felt plainly in Moangua, near the Costa Rican border. Rescue parties have gone to the stricken city from San Juan del Sur and other towns.

With the first upheaval houses and business and public buildings began tumbling down. Many of the occupants were crushed to death at once, while others were injured and held in the ruins to die later.

Shrieking with terror, men, women and children, hundreds of them, injured, rushed from their tumbling dwellings into the streets and began a mad flight for the open country.

Many of them were crushed to death or mortally injured by falling walls, as they stumbled through narrow streets which were writing under the pressure of the mighty subterranean forces.

DON'T PAY YOUR BILLS!

The Comet is Going to Destroy Us on May 17—Perhaps.

TAFT DEFENDS SUPREMACY

CALLS "DEMAGOGIC CANT" PERIL AND ASKS SQUAD DEAL.

Declares Highest Tribunal Does Not Favor Corporations and Texas Bryan to Taft.

St. Louis.—President Taft gave a vigorous denunciation of William J. Bryan for the latter's criticism of the appointment of Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York as associate justice of the United States Supreme court. Mr. Taft derided the "cant of the demagogue" and the "disgraceful public journals" for making unjust charges against him in public life.

"All I am speaking for is justice and a square deal," he said, "not a speciality for myself, for, indeed, I am in a position where I can get along better than some of the rest without it. But I am appealing for justice in dealing with all classes."

Mr. Taft was speaking at a luncheon given by the Business Men's league. The president's reception here drew the greatest enthusiasm that has been displayed toward him on the present trip. A great crowd welcomed him on his arrival in the Union station and the street was well lined with cheering and flag-waving enthusiasts as he was driven to the St. Louis club, where he was entertained at breakfast.

STATE RESTS IN HYDE TRIAL

MRS. MARGARET SWEPE TELLS HER STORY TO JURY.

She Contradicts Defense's Declaration Concerning Division of Colonel's Estate.

Kansas City, Mo.—Mrs. Margaret Swepe, widow of Logan O. Swepe, told her story to the jury in the trial of her son-in-law, Dr. R. C. Hyde, for the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swepe, her brother-in-law.

After describing the events between September 12 and December 18, she told with much feeling of receiving from her son, Thomas, the fragments of a capsule he had found in the snow where Doctor Hyde had thrown them. Mrs. Swepe told how she fastened the pieces to a card and soon afterwards telephoned for J. G. Paxton, her attorney. She washed her son's hand after smothering his fingers. The odor suggested sin.

Mrs. Swepe said that she, Doctor Hyde and Colonel Hunton discussed the railway estate which Colonel Swepe intended to leave to some charity. They talked of how the estate would be divided among the relatives, if the will remained unchanged. This contradicted the defense's declaration that when Colonel Swepe died Mrs. Hyde and her husband did not know whether or not they would receive anything.

Mrs. Swepe described the seizure of Moses Hunton and his death from asphyxiation. Her voice failed frequently and she was obliged to cease speaking for a few seconds to regain control of her emotions.

Doctor Hyde and Mrs. Hyde, a few feet away, watched her closely and listened eagerly to every word.

With Mrs. Swepe's testimony in the state rested its case. Kansas City, Mo.—A new point was scored by the defense in the Swepe case Friday when Doctor Cross, who was on the stand as a witness for Dr. R. C. Hyde, accused of Col. Swepe's murder, declared that by the mingling of formaldehyde and ammonia, hydrocyanic acid, the active part of cyanide, would be formed. In the embalming fluid used on Colonel Swepe's body was formaldehyde, ammonia, said the witness, is present in large quantities in all bodies.

MINE TOLL NOW REACHES 195

Over Half of Male Population of Potosi, Are Dead—Only Eleven Bodies Recovered.

Potosi, Ala.—The village is half of the male population. The mine has been closed since the explosion in mine. Coal and Coke companies, 200 men—45 white and 155 negro—are thought to have been killed. Eleven bodies have been recovered but not yet 2,000 feet level, a number of men.

BUSINESS IS FAIR.

Unsettled Feeling Prevailing for Some Time Past Has Been Alleged to Some Extent.

New York.—R. O. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The unsettled and apprehensive feeling prevailing for some time past in the financial markets, resulting in declining prices, has been allayed to some extent, although there has been a disappointing check to the buoyant movement existing in mercantile lines at the beginning of the year. The causes of the financial recession were partly economic, partly political. It is to be noted, however, that the effect upon the industrial and mercantile situation has been slow, and in some parts of the country it was hardly noticeable.

Efforts to remove the obstacles of over-production from the pig iron situation are proving successful, as evidenced by return covering the output during April, which show the smallest total, with one exception, since September, 1909. Buyers still pursue a waiting attitude and hesitation is also apparent in the markets for finished materials, consumers delaying in the hope of securing price concessions.

In dry goods circles considerable reserve buying power was disclosed at the auction sale of carpets which attracted buyers from all over the country. A continuation of the slight improvement in the demand for cotton goods by converters, printers and the manufacturing trade was noted, but jobbers are holding back, awaiting the closing of the government cotton report in June, when they hope for further revision of prices. Fall Hides has been selling contracts on wide cloths to run through June, July and August on a basis of 244 cents per pound for price cloth yarn construction. Yarns rule slow. Draps, goods are inactive in first hands and except for an advance of five cents per yard on a single line of woolen men's wear, little change is noted in the quiet trade in that quarter.

Activity in footwear is in the main for season's run, and the demand is quiet for seasonable lines for immediate delivery. Producers are rushing their plants on part time as they have not commenced full cutting as yet. Prices are maintained. Leather trade quiet and the demand for most varieties is less active than previously noted.

Fallures and Exports.

New York.—Bradstreet's says: Business failures in the United States for the week ending with May 6 were 131, against 129 last week, 214 in the week of 1909, 281 in 1908, 154 in 1907 and 142 in 1906.

Business failures in Canada for the week ending with May 6 were 11, against 10 last week, 25 in the week of last year, 31 for last week and 29 in the like week of last year. Wheat, including flour, exports to the United States and Canada for the week ending with May 6 were 1,111,000 bushels, against 1,100,000 last week, 1,100,000 in the week of last year, 1,100,000 in 1908, 1,100,000 in 1907 and 1,100,000 in 1906.

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

SYNOPSIS

Thomas Ardmore, a bored millionaire, and Henry Maline Crawford, professor in the University of Virginia, are the son-in-law and son of a prominent family out of Atlanta. Crawford goes to his college, Ardmore in pursuit of a girl who had winked at him. Mistaken for Gov. O'Connell, he is arrested and threatened with execution. He goes to Columbia to warn the governor and meets Barbara DeBorne. Ardmore, furious that his winking girl is the daughter of the Governor, goes to North Carolina. He follows her to Raleigh, and on the way is given a message from Crawford. Crawford tells him that the jug bears a message reading "Dangerous unless Appleton is released." Appleton is a criminal, is allowed to go free because of his political connections. He is running the affairs of the state through the governor, and beyond all other womenkind—she is different; she is not like other women!

"It is nearly nine," she said, her voice thrilling through him. "My father should have been here an hour ago. We have heard nothing from him. The newspapers have telephoned repeatedly to know his whereabouts. I have put them off by intimating that he is away on important public business, and that his purpose might be defeated if his exact whereabouts were known."

WHAT IS GOING ON IN DIFFERENT SECTIONS OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

but they commit most of their crimes in North Carolina, and they always have. Talk about a vacillating course! Father has never taken steps to arrest those men out of sheer regard for Gov. Dingerfield; he thought North Carolina had some pride, and that her governor would prefer to take care of his own criminals. What do you suppose Applegate is indicted for in this state? For stealing one ham—one single ham from a farmer in Mingo county, and he's killed half a dozen men in North Carolina."

She paced the corner of the veranda angrily, while Griswold groped for a solution of the problem. The telegram from Raleigh was certainly lacking in diplomatic savvy. It was patent that if the governor of North Carolina was not tremendously aroused, he was playing a great game of bluff; and on either hypothesis a prompt response must be made to his telegram.

"I must answer this at once. He must not think we are so stupid in Columbia that we don't know when we're insulted. We can go through the side door to father's study and write the message there," and she led the way.

She found a blank and wrote rapidly, without asking suggestions, with this result:

The Honorable William Dargersfield,
Raleigh, N. C.:
Your extremely diverting telegram to Appleweight came received and filed.
CHARLES ORRORNE,
Governor of South Carolina.

"You see, the governor of South Carolina cannot stoop to an exchange of billingsgate with an underhired person like that—a big, solemn, concealed creature in a long frock-coat and a shoestring necktie, who boasts of belonging to the common 'poor-pull.' He doesn't have to tell anybody that, when it's plain as daylight. The way to answer him is not to answer at all."

"Excellent. It's bound to irritate, and it leaves him in the dark as to our—I mean Gov. Osborne's—intentions. And those intentions—" During this by-play he had reached a decision as to what should be done, and he was prepared to answer when she asked, with an employment of the pronoun that pleasantly emphasized their relationship:

"What are our intentions?"

"We are going to catch Appleweight, that's the first thing—and until we get him we're going to keep our own counsel. Let me have a glass of beer."

graph blank and I will try my hand at being governor." He sat down in the governor's chair, asked the name of the county seat of Mingo and wrote without erasure or hesitation this message:

To the Sheriff of Mingo County,
Turner Court House, S. C.
Make every possible effort to capture Applewhite and any of his gang who are abroad in your county. Swear in all the deputies you need, and if friendliness of citizens to outlaws makes this impossible wire me immediately, and I will send militia. Any delay on your part will be visited with severest penalties. Answer immediately by telegraph.
CHARLES OSBORNE.

RAILROAD NOT RESPONSIBLE.

Louisville & Nashville Railroad N Liable for Death of Mrs. Edmonds

Judgment of the Kenton circuit court in the case of M. L. Harbeson, administrator, against the Louisville & Nashville railroad Co. was affirmed by the court holding that Mrs. Emma F. Harbeson was killed accidentally at Crum street, in Covington, and that the company was not responsible for her death.

The judgment of the Fayette circuit court in the case of the commonwealth against the Payne Medicine Co. was affirmed, the appellate court holding the $100 license tax unconstitutional.

The judgment of the Christian court in the case of Dave Smith, sheriff, against J. M. Reushaw and O. Prowse was affirmed. Judge Nugent dissenting. Smith, a sheriff, failed to renew his bond within the statutory time laid down by law, and he was ousted by Prowse, who appointed Reushaw.

At the close of business April there were $1,442,951.07 of outstanding warrants, but there will not be this number of outstanding warrants at this time next year, for the state board of equalization and the state board of valuation and assessment will increase the assessments on realty and personality in Kentucky enough to raise funds to pay off the debt in a large measure.

The statement of Auditor James concerning the close of business April 30, follows: Sinking fund, $15,925.25; school fund, $290,481.95; balance in treasury, $378,110.71; deficit in general expenditure fund, $10,296.49.

With $600,000 in the treasury rural school teachers hope to see their pay by the first of June, as money has been due since February.

Louisville, Ky.—It is understood that the cases growing out of the night rider troubles at Princeton, 1907, when the warehouse of the Imperial Tobacco Co. was burned, have been settled by the insurance companies for less than $1,000. The outcome of the cases is regarded by the insurance companies as a great victory, because the "waiver clause" of the policies, which provide that in case of fire being riot, riotous assembly, or civil disturbance, or similar outbreaks, the companies are not liable for the loss, was upheld by the court of appeals.

Augusta, Ky.—The tobacco barn of George H. McKibben, containing between 5,000 and 7,000 pounds of tobacco, at the edge of the city, was burned. The tobacco had not been pooled.

Paris, Ky.—The corner-stone of Paris' handsome new Federal building was laid under the auspices of Plodge, No. 2, F. and A. M., in the presence of a large throng. After the vocation by the Rev. Dr. B. M. S. the ceremony of placing the cor-

By STACY E. BAKER

Copyright, 1909 by Associated Literary Press.

It was all owing to the inheritance, that followed, and at 42 she was Miss Angelina Dobbins, spinster, specimen of spinster.

Miss Angelina's latent libido, awakened by the beaute culture of the little old New York, was a rare haven to themselves.

"Why, Miss Dohhina," enquired the lady's masseuse, "you look so girlish. Your complexion is Miss Angelina was 40 years of age when crusty Reuben Doderfield, uncle on the maternal side, passed on, leaving to his sole relative an accumulation of long smoldered dollars.

The obsequies over, the beffres placed a good man on the farm and sent back to her home town to arrange for the funeral. The beffres' vengeance she had long thought hidden away in the crypt of forgotten things.

And so it was that the natives of Hubbletown awoke one blistering morning to find the streets of their town a memory of yesterday. Nor had the departed left one clue behind to tell of her whereabouts.

By August the lady from Hubbletown could have passed the streets of her native village. Her cheeks were as pale and aged as a young girl's. The lines had become graceful curves.

Hubbiettown was up and took notice. It was a nine days' wonder, a startling epoch in the staid history of the town. For a brief period there was talk of abduction, elopement—here rumor again touched upon the old romance in the woman's life—and then—Hubbiettown stretched its arms, yawned

As for Miss Angelina, she was safe in New York. Also, a wonderful metamorphosis had begun. Miss Angelina, inconsistent chameleon, was emerging from the chrysalis of time-mellowed convention to a staid but

The necromancers along Broadway—the hair dressers, the massage

'My Heart Is Yours.'

There were others. Mr. Bogart's fat little characterless face had good reason to frown deep lines of worryment. The dapper Albert Kahn, some years younger, and financial magnate of Albantown, was a rival.

But, in spite of this, the gods seemed kind. Mrs. Case seemed to favor his suit, and this was well, because it was rumored that the sprightly widow had

On an evening during which Bogart had been unusually favored and allowed to escort the widow home from the opera, his ardor suddenly got the

"Mrs. Case," he began, when she had arrived at the home of the widow's friend, "I have something serious to say to you."

OUTLOOK

ED WEEKLY,
LLE, . . . KY.

According to Act of
at the Owingville,
Postoffice as second-class
ter.

The OUTLOOK's subscription are as follows:
One Dollar.
Sixty Cents.
Thirty-five Cents.

No commissions allowed anybody on subscriptions.
Subscribers desiring a change of address should give previous address when writing.

Correspondents should always get their items to us not later than Monday if possible, when out of stationery mention it on a separate slip of paper.
News matter of general interest is welcomed; bring it to us without delay if you wish it inserted.

Advertisers wishing a change or discontinuance of ad, should inform us the week previous to publication day.

Address all communications to
JOHN W. HONAKER, Owingville, Ky.

THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1910.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce Will J. Fields, of Carter county, as a candidate for Congress in the Ninth district of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

THERE is a considerable element in this country that is really monarchical in its inmost heart, and it is acclimating Roosevelt as the hope and expectancy of the State.

KING EDWARD VII., of Great Britain, died last Friday and his son George V. became king. Edward grew greatly in the esteem of his people and that of the world in his later life, taking rank also as one of the most astute and useful statesmen of his time. Little is known of the capacity of George V. for public affairs.

THE OUTLOOK IN FLORIDA.—
On Sunday, Feb. 8, I took my family down to Palm Beach to hobnob for the day with the millionaires. We had to get up before day to take the train. We had as traveling companions Mr.
Ellis J. Koven, his wife, and Alreclines in a chair that is the perfection of comfort, it is as soft as need be, and the element of danger is eliminated.

We were first held up by the tollgate keeper on the bridge over Lake Worth; we paid out of it and passed on.

My chairman was a sophisticated and promptly began naming the objects of adoration or special interest. Hotel Palm Beach was pointed out, likewise the establishment of Dr. Munyon, of jawpaw remedy fame.

The great Royal Poinciana hotel loomed up before us as we entered the broad, clean, smooth, hard streets of the Golden City and turned south along the lake drive. This hotel contains 2,500 rooms, six stories high, and it fronts nearly 1,000 feet. It is finished and furnished like a palace out of the "Arabian Nights."

The spacious grounds are like a vast outdoors conservatory of flowers and rare plants. There is only one thing lacking: that white sand will not grow bluegrass to make a perfect lawn.
The Royal Poinciana is said to be the largest tourist hotel in the world. One New York guest has reserved for him each season the choicest suite of rooms at $25 per day. But, it is said, Flager finds this hotel something of an albino pachyderm on his island and would gladly bestow it as a gift on anybody who would give bond to run it. My guide told me the names of the flowers, but I can remember only hibiscus, because everything is high in Palm Beach.
But coconuts! Coconuts! trees lined the streets and driveways nearly everywhere. The trees bear the year around, and are seen with coconuts in every stage of growth, from the blooming to the mature nut. The nuts are cracked in a beachnut-shaned shuck. When ripe they fall off and are the property of whoever chooses to take them. They are an encumbrance on the ground and are sometimes piled up and burned. The children clamored until beach was given a couple.

Along the lake drive wild ducks in flocks swam around as tame as the domestic breeds. They came up to be fed by the children. The guide said they were "leather backs." Of course, they are fully protected by law.

We passed the small row of shops where "connections" (I believe that is the term) of millinery and costume are provided the elect and chosen at prices commensurate with their exalted status.

Home after home of millionaires of more or less national repute were pointed out. Henry M. Flager, the patron saint of the East Coast, has a state white for him.

Palm Beach is well named, for,
besides the countless coconut and cabbage palms (palmettoes), there are traveler's palms and royal palms, the latter the most beautiful and stately of the palm family, the trunks being like tall carved columns of whitish stone.

Lime, mango and tamarind trees abound; also coffee and other rare tropical trees. But the royal poinciana is the fragrant. In the spring when it is in bloom the hone greenhorn promptly yells "fired!" when he sees it, for its bloom makes it appear like a mass of flame, the popular name being flame tree. The mature fruit is a long pod something like the Kentucky coffee-bean pod lengthened four times.

The calico bush in bloom is a pretty one, and the yellow Spanish honeysuckle covering sides and roofs of houses is another.
There are flowers without end.
On the street leading from the lake to the ocean are rows of Australian pine trees.

Golf and lawn tennis grounds are conspicuous.
On the ocean front was pointed out the cottage in which Joe Jefferson, the actor, died.

The day was bright, but cool, and the blue ocean, with its transparent water and rearing breakers, was a grand sight as we rode out on the pier. We were held up here again for forty cents toll.
An ocean steamer of the Mallory line passed while we were on the pier. Plenty of fish could be seen down in the clear water. A troupe of minnows at 25¢ per minnow was ready for the fisherman. Decent catches on display were a shark, a sailfish and some amber jacks.

The sailfish is a member of the swordfish family, and has an enormously-developed back fin, which when spread is like a sail and gives it the name. It grows to 150 pounds in weight.
The amber jack is a hard-fighting fish, and grows to 100 pounds.
A fisherman, with such a rod, reel and line as I used at the inlet, was casting his bait into the ocean from the pier.

A Japanese woman in national costume was on the pier.
The breakers are in the nature of the great flagler hotel, fronting the beach. The elite and fashion were there in full force, and seemed to be rather dreadingly taking their pleasure.

The Royal Poinciana and The Breakers house the most fashionable society in the world. There is where a woman's dress costs several hundred dollars is good for one appearance only, according to the testimony of one of the "Gould" women in her suit of blue.

to sort of being the average downtown man, I was my overcoat and it was very comfortable, but one of the pier four women were bathing in the surf, just like it was that good old summer time. Afterwards several male bathers disported themselves in the water, while a big crowd sat and lay about on the sandy shore watching them. Ladies and gentlemen in their Sunday-goes-meeting clothes slumped themselves down on the sand with no fear of soiling them, as the sand is very clean and easily brushed off.

Palm Beach is a splendid place for the consumption and display of wealth. For those who like to live there or stay there for extended periods, why, that is the sort of thing they like. Under no circumstances should I like it for more than brief occasional visits. It is too much like a gilded cage that restricts freedom of action mostly to an inmate and a fashionable life.

We left on the 9:27 p. m. train for Fort Pierce.

JOHN W. HONAKER.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Upper Prickly Ash.

Mrs. Martha Allen, of Owingville, visited her son John Allen and family last week.

Thos. Allen and wife, of Ow-ingville, visited relatives here
last week.

On account of the rain Saturday night but few attended the supper at Harper's schoolhouse. There were only seven suppers sold. They brought $11.
75. The supper was made to pay
Mr. North for teaching the music class.

Grange City.

Samuel Watson has the grip.
Mrs. Emma Carpenter, of near Flemingsburg, visited Sam Watson and wife Sunday.

Misses Elizabeth Bradley and Correne Oliver were in Flemingsburg shopping Wednesday.

Mrs. T. J. Havens and daughter Miss Era were in Owingville
one day last week.

Newton Johnson and wife were guests of their daughter Mrs. Dr.
A. W. Jones, at Owingville, Monday.

Mrs. Emily Bradley and daughter Elizabeth were in Owingville
one day last week.

Moore's Ferry.

Ed Fanning, wife and little niece, of Salt Lick, visited the family of B. A. Ingram Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Gibbs and children of Wednesday of her

ed home from Martinsville, Ind., where they had been for the benefit of the father's health.

Sam Conner, wife and two children were guests of the family of Sam Shultz Sunday.

Clarence H. Isenman and wife visited the former's parents, Jas.
Horseman and wife, on Washington branch, Sunday.

Mrs. A. K. Coyle visited her daughter Mrs. Dee Rudder and family one day last week.

Mrs. J. K. Jones visited her daughter Mrs. Enoch Sorrell, on Prickly Ash, last week.

Poebia.

We had a fine rain Saturday, which was of great benefit to vegetation.

Mrs. Mollie Hendrix and Mrs.
Margaret Anderson, of near Sherburne, visited the former's son
A. T. Hendrix one day last week.

J. A. Powell bought a mare of John Stephens for $20.

Russell Woodard, wife and daughter visited the former's parents, Jasper Gardner and wife, of Owingville, Sunday and Monday.

On Wednesday, May 4, Bee Gray and Miss Leah Street were united in marriage at the home of Thos. Hunt, Rev. Thurman officiating. Leslie Stephens and Miss Aetna Whitten were the attendants. They have gone to housekeeping for the Perkins bro., on Lick Branch. May their pathway through life be bright and happy, is the wish of many friends.

Alfred Bailey visited his father-in-law, Alfred Eden, near Cherry Grove, several days last week.

Several from here went to Ow-ingville Monday.

Salt Lick.

James Greer, of Camargo, came Saturday to see Uncle Henry Wills.

Misses Mary and Fronie Johnson visited relatives at Grayson
last week.

A good crowd was in town Public Sale Day, but little trading done on account of the rain.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson's sale was well attended, considering the rainy day.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson visited her sister Mrs. J. H. Williams, at Grayson, Sunday.

Mrs. W. F. Fultz, of Morehead, visited her sister Mrs. A. J. Cheep
last week.

H. C. Alfrey, of Cave Run, was here Sunday.

Thos. N. Coons and wife, of Bourbon county, came Sunday to visit relatives.

Mrs. Clifford Bush, of Grassy Lick, visited the family of J. H.
Gillispie Sunday.

It looks like Montgomery county is going to have a telephone line. The Telephone Co. claims it "has raised the price," but the subscribers say it's blackmail.

23 Clay has gone to Mt. Sterling to run a meat market.

Miss Stella Conner closed her school Friday, after giving an old-fashioned candy pulling.

We hear it "talked about" that Montgomery is going to lay Bath county in the shade on the population this time.

Martin Green removed from Sharpsburg to Roy Byrd's farm.

Daniel Baker, who formerly lived at Flat Creek, is dangerously ill at his home at Howard's Mill.

Crook.

Mrs. Joe Williams and little son visited relatives at Olympia Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. W. W. Nixon was in Mt.
Sterling Friday.

Mrs. Dr. Williams is visiting at Farmers.

Jeff Cassidy, of Farmers, visited his parents, W. D. Cassidy and wife, last week.

Mrs. Ray Goodan is visiting relatives on Flat Creek.

Farmers have been delayed in planting corn on account of the rain.

Clynt Wilhoit returned from Indiana, where he had been for several months.

Married, May 8, Ottilie Craycraft and Miss Amanda Wilhoit.
The attendants were Reuben Wil-hoit, brother of the bride, and Miss Ida Carpenter, Willie Craycraft and Miss Emma Ginter.
Mr. and Mrs. Craycraft are nice young people. May joy and prosperity be theirs through life.

George Carmichael is on the sick list.

Olympia.

Rev. Battenfield filled his appointment Saturday and Sunday.

W. M. Shultz, who has been at work in West Virginia, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Martha Shultz.

Chas. Panix, of Wrigley, is visiting home folks.
George S. . . .
and,

Imogene, 16-months-old daughter of Willie Wilson, got one of its fingers badly cut and bruised from being caught in the cogs of a washing machine.

Mrs. Artemisia Rogers, widow of Silas Rogers, died at 6 a. m., April 8, 1910, at the home of her grandson David Hawkins, with whom she had made her home for many years. She was buried Monday at 2 p. m. at the Hendrix burying ground on East Fork.
She was 87 years old, and was a good woman, well liked by all.
Her son John, of Kansas, survives her; also her daughter Mrs.
Caroline Hawkins and Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins, of this county.
We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved.

LIGHT YOUR HOME WITH THE

DAY TONIA

Acetylene Gas Generator, better, safer and cheaper than kerosene, gasoline or coal gas, nearest approach to sunlight;
most delicate shades can be easily and accurately distinguished.

Well and Cistern Pumps, pipe fittings, the Perry pneumatic water system and plumb-ing goods.

Oscar Palmer,

Owingville, Ky.

Crown Prince